Maternal and Infant Health Seminar Oaxaca 2017

From November 27-29, 2017, Maternal and Infant Health Seminar took place in Oaxaca, Mexico. In total, 65 participants with different profiles such as Physicians, Nurses, Traditional doctors, Midwives and Nutritionists had the opportunity to update their knowledge and skills, exchange points of views and experiences, and acquire the most recent developments to improve the health and nutritional status of pregnant women and new born children, considering social and cultural aspects of the state.

Thanks to Dr. Carlos Navarro (ABC Medical Center) course director, and the participation of renowned members of different National Medical Institutions and representatives of New York Presbyterian Hospital / Columbia University Medical Center; the seminar was successfully accomplished. It is also important to mention the support and commitment of “Alfredo Harp Helú Foundation” (http://www.fahho.org/home.php), who donated an incredible venue for the Seminar, “San Pablo Cultural Center” (http://www.san-pablo.mx/)
Faculty members Dr. Fernando Galvan Duque and Dr. Mauricio Velázquez from ABC Medical Center with Midwives

Dr. Carlos Navarro, Course Director with Traditional Doctors and Midwives
Dorothy Smok, M.D. New York Presbyterian Hospital / Columbia University Medical Center

Rakesh Sahni, M.D., New York Presbyterian Hospital / Columbia University Medical Center

Prof. Aulitzky with Santiago Ortela, President of The Mexican Board of Traditional Medicine